SECRETARY GALVIN ANNOUNCES RELEASE OF HISTORIC PLACES FOR HISTORIC PARTIES

Secretary of the Commonwealth William F. Galvin, chair of the Massachusetts Historical Commission, is pleased to announce the release of the 9th edition of Historic Places for Historic Parties, a popular event-planning resource published by Secretary Galvin's office.

Offered as a public service, Historic Places for Historic Parties is part of a continuing effort to provide the public with historically significant locations for special events of all kinds. The new edition provides expanded and updated information on new and previously listed properties, with a total of more than 200 historic sites in 94 communities across the Commonwealth. Each listing includes a brief description of the property, as well as information on the number of rooms available, extra amenities, accessibility, and capacity. The listings exhibit a broad range of architectural styles and include a variety of event spaces, such as mansions, museums and art galleries, gardens, restaurants, and inns.

"Historic properties are not only unique settings for special events, but are also vital parts of our diverse cultural landscape," Secretary Galvin said. "The revenue generated from private event rentals helps provide the necessary funding to preserve and maintain the properties listed in this publication."

The 9th edition of Historic Places for Historic Parties includes color photographs of each property, website information, and a map showing Massachusetts communities with properties listed in the booklet. The book is available now for $6.15, plus shipping (if applicable), and can be purchased by mail, online, or in person at the State Bookstore in Boston, State House Room 116. Additional information, as well as the Bookstore's catalogue, may be found on Secretary Galvin's website at www.sec.state.ma.us/spr.

The Massachusetts Historical Commission is the office of the State Historic Preservation Officer and the State Archaeologist. It was established in 1963 to identify, evaluate, and protect important historical and archaeological assets of the Commonwealth. Additional information about the Commission's programs may be found on Secretary Galvin's website at www.sec.state.ma.us/mhc.
