DESCRIPTION:

Work is further detailed in the specification and includes, but is not limited to, the John Winthrop Elementary School, a multiple-story elementary school with a low-sloped, gravel surfaced built-up roofing system reportedly installed in a "go-over" fashion (approximately 16,500 SF installed over the original built-up roofing system). Around the entire perimeter of the roof there exists a concrete cornice that is located approximately four feet below the roof line. The cornice configuration includes a four-inch horizontal surface which will retain water and ice. Much of this concrete surface is cracked and the white coating material is failing.
