The State Bookstore offers the following subscriptions:

The Goods and Services Bulletin is a weekly publication containing solicitations for the procurement of commodities and services (which, generally, are unrelated to construction of municipal facilities). State purchases of goods exceeding $1000 as well as procurements of certain services or consultants are advertised. Certain municipal contracts required to be advertised pursuant to the Uniform Procurement Act (M.G.L. c. 30B) exceeding $100,000 are also published; as well as notices advertising the availability of surplus property and sole source procurements. Although not available on a single issue basis, the Goods and Services Bulletin is available to view at many public libraries throughout Massachusetts.

The Massachusetts Register is the bi-weekly publication mandated by the Administrative Procedures Act (M.G.L. c. 30A). The register publishes new and amended regulations; notices of hearings and comment periods related to prospective or draft regulations; and a cumulative index of regulatory changes for the current year. The register also publishes notices of public interest, as well as opinions of the Attorney General and Executive Orders. Single issues are available from the State Bookstore at a cost of $15.00.

The Central Register is the weekly source for information about state, county and municipal contracts being put out to bid for the design, construction and reconstruction of public facilities in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Invitations to bid, lists of contractors picking up specifications on a weekly basis, and final awards of contracts are all published. Proposals and advertisements for the lease, sale or transfer of real property are published; as are lists of certified minority and women contractors and contractors who have been debarred from state work. Although not available on a single issue basis, the Central Register is available to view at many public libraries throughout Massachusetts.

Advance Publication of the Acts and Resolves enacted during a current legislative session is required under M.G.L. c. 5, s. 3. The Secretary of the Commonwealth publishes these session laws immediately after enactment and distributes "pamphlet" editions of the advance copies during the legislative session. The "pamphlets" include a cumulative list containing the bill number, title, chapter number and enactment date, and a list of General Laws amended by the current legislative actions. Single issues of laws are available at the State Bookstore and at the Western Office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth. Bound editions of all the laws enacted during each session are published a few months after the session has ended.

The Cumulative Table informs subscribers of changes and amendments to all state regulations on a monthly basis. Included are the subject matter, issue and date of the Massachusetts Register in which the change was printed. Each issue of the Cumulative Table contains an order form allowing subscribers to order an amendment directly from the State Bookstore. An important feature of the Cumulative Table is that it notifies subscriber of the promulgation of emergency regulations. Regulations adopted on an emergency basis, though they may be temporary, have the full force and effect of law.
